Q&A WITH AUTHORS

BONEY NATHAN & SEETAL KAUR

What inspired you to write The Collaborative Classroom?

From our personal experiences in classrooms and teacher professional development conversations, we recognised that teachers are time-poor and find it challenging to keep their students engaged. We discovered that many teacher support books were too wordy, and time-consuming whereby teachers had to read everything and extract the information they needed. This added onto their already heavy workload. So, we decided to research and collate 50 Cooperative Learning Strategies into one book and present the strategies in a step-by-step format that teachers can effortlessly incorporate into their daily lessons.

Why do you think teachers will enjoy The Collaborative Classroom?

We think teachers will enjoy The Collaborative Classroom because it comes with:

1. Straightforward and user-friendly steps.
2. Valuable and effective strategies that can be incorporated into lesson plans.
3. Step-by-step procedures.
4. Graphics to help visualise the strategies.
5. Practical 'When to Use' and 'Tips' sections.

What expertise did you bring to your writing?

We are both experienced classroom teachers and we did this project based on all the conversations and feedback from many other teachers. Our book is dedicated to all teachers.
